

Midwest Conference on Missionary Care
February 23-24, 2018

The Promise and Peril of Personality Types

Due to proprietary and copyright requirements the PowerPoint presentation for this workshop is not available.

Please email susie@excelsiorparkassociates.com to request information.

Susie Schutz
Excelsior Park Associates, LLC
susie@excelsiorparkassociates.com

"The Promise and Peril of Personality Types"

Do you want to improve the interpersonal dynamics of your Mission Team members here, near and far? Do you know what personality type you show up with? Do you know what personality type your team members show up with?

The bringing together of personality types is fraught with promise or peril. How we are wired, how we show up impacts communication, making decisions, handling conflict, dealing with change, setting goals and taking action.

This workshop will give participants a language and framework for understanding themselves and others better which they can put into practice immediately.

Objectives:

- ▶ Introduce you to a color language preference model that will help you identify what personality type you show up (Self-awareness)
- ▶ Using the color energy preference model learn how to identify what personality type your team members show up with (Other-awareness)
- ▶ Practice using color preference to handle real team situations
- ▶ Use color preference to set goals